British Strike Encourages Selling Early, But Reports on Condition Bullish.

Monday Afternoon, Sept. 29, 1919.

But for the character of news coming to hand early regarding the strike in England, which stimulated bullish feeling and more or less liquidation, the chances are that the market would have had an ordinary day. Several reports on condition, ranging from 25 to 50, and they inspired the market. The strike in England, the official statement of the strike, was a nervous one, but the market was not much disturbed by the state of affairs in that country. The market was very much disturbed by the state of affairs in that country. The market was very much disturbed by the state of affairs in that country.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29.—Fear of the effects of the British railroad strike caused a selling movement in the market today and in the first half hour of trading the active months were depressed 10 to 15 points. Favorable weather over the belt also was a factor against values.

Very low private bureau reports on condition caused a recovery of 20 to 30 points, but this served to bring out heavy selling and the market was driven back to its original level. The market was driven back to its original level. The market was driven back to its original level.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The cotton market was extremely nervous and unsettled during today's early trading. There was no change in the bullish character of the spot and crop news, but Liverpool showed weakness owing to the British railroad strike, and the opening here was barely steady at a decline of 10 to 20 points under realizing and Southern and Liverpool selling. October broke 31.75 and December to 31.85, or 40 points net lower, but houses with Wall street connections were buyers and there were rallies of 10 to 20 points before the end of the first hour.

Early rallies met increased offerings owing to nervousness over the English railway strike situation, and later in the morning there were reports that all clearances from this side would be held up until it was over. This led to considerable selling with the decline extending to 31.75 for September and 31.85 for October, or 40 points net lower. The market was driven back to its original level. GRAIN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Weakness developed in the grain market today as a result of lack of support. Declines in foreign exchange rates tended further to depress corn, and, too, did lower quotations on wheat. Opening prices which varied from 10c to 15c advance, with December 11.25c to 11.35c and May 11.25c to 11.35c were followed by a material setback. The market was decided against.

Notice that an account of British strikes the shipping board has suspended all sailings to the United Kingdom in the latter half of the month. The market was decided against.

Provisions were dragged down by the action of grain and hog. Provisions as well as in corn the shortage of shipments to the United Kingdom operated as a bearish factor.
